Welcome to Kyushu University

Driving social change with integrative knowledge

Kyushu University (formerly Kyushu Imperial University) was established in 1911 as the fourth Imperial university after Tokyo, Kyoto and Tohoku. Kyushu University has four campuses with approximately 19,000 students and 8,300 faculty members.

Kyushu University began relocating to Ito Campus in 2005. In 2018, the relocation was completed, making Ito Campus one of the largest single campuses in Japan. Ito Campus has an extensive range of state-of-the-art equipment and buildings in a rich natural environment, forming a world-leading research and education hub. Kyushu University has put great effort into making the campus favorable and open to the local community.

History of Kyushu University

- 1911 Kyushu Imperial University established
- 2005 Ito Campus opened
- 2011 Centennial anniversary of the university's founding
- 2018 Ito Campus completed
School of Interdisciplinary Science and Innovation established

Grounds

One of the largest single campuses in Japan

Ito Campus is one of the largest single campuses in Japan, measuring approximately 3 km east to west and 2.5 km north to south, with an area of roughly 272 hectares.

Rich natural environment

To maintain a sustainable balance with our rich natural environment, we have set aside 100 of the campus' 272 hectares as a Biodiversity Conservation Zone.

Archaeological treasure

Many valuable buried cultural properties have been discovered at Ito Campus.

World-class research and education center

As a world-class research and education center, Ito Campus has an extensive range of state-of-the-art equipment and buildings.

West Zones 1-4

West Zones 1-4 house the education and research facilities for the Engineering, Mathematics, and Science departments. Various exhibits and art displays are set up in the entrance hall and other areas.

West Zone 5

West Zone 5 is the center of agricultural research and education. The building's facade resembles a rice field and features three multi-purpose entrance halls with spacious two-story atriums.

Center Zones 1 & 2, Kyushu University Monument Sign

Center Zones 1 & 2 house our KIKAN education program. The Kyushu University Monument Sign is a popular place to take pictures. Try out our special photo frame!

Shiiki Hall

Shiiki Hall was built to commemorate the 100th anniversary of Kyushu University with a generous donation from late businessman Masakazu Shiiki.

East Zones 1 & 2

East Zones 1 & 2 bring together all eight faculties in the humanities and social sciences. The buildings' exterior color scheme is reminiscent of traditional Hakata-ori textile patterns.
