

KU-NTU-SNU

Asia

*Biodiversity in the Anthropocene:
Envisioning Our Future in Harmony with Nature*

Biodiversity Symposium

Date: December 8, 2023 (Fri) 1330-1600

Venue: Lecture Room 1, Shiiki Hall, Kyushu University Ito Campus / Online (hybrid)

Organized by Kyushu University Institute for Asian and Oceanian Studies (Q-AOS)

Co-organized by Kyushu University International Affairs Department

Supported by National Taiwan University Master's Program in Biodiversity,

Seoul National University Environmental Planning Institute

1330-1340: Welcome Remarks

Prof. Kenji IWATA (Executive Vice-President, KU)

1340-1400: Introduction

"Biodiversity in the Anthropocene"

Assoc. Prof. Toshinori TANAKA (Q-AOS, KU)

1400-1420: Lecture 1

"Biodiversity Conservation and Local Community –
the application and Challenges to Apply OECM in Taiwanese Local Communities"

Assoc. Prof. Dau Jye LU (NTU)

1420-1440: Lecture 2

"Rural development in harmony with nature;
case from the Republic of Korea"

Assoc. Prof. Yonghoon SON (SNU)

1440-1500: Break

1500-1515: Lecture 3

"Kyushu University Forest: Contributing to sustainability and livable society"

Prof. Tomonori KUME (KU)

1515-1530: Lecture 4

Fostering the Future Generations for the society in harmony with Nature; NTU Master's Program in Biodiversity

Prof. Chau-Ti TING (NTU)

1530-1550: Discussion

How can we promote the society in harmony with nature

1550-1600: Closing Remarks

Prof. Akira HARATA (Senior Vice President, KU)

Overall MC: Akane ANAI (Asst. Prof. Q-AOS, KU)

* This symposium is supported by the Japan Prize Foundation, the Kajima Foundation and Kyushu University Strategic Partnership Program (all projects' PI: Dr Toshinori TANAKA).

