I. Introduction

Application for Tuition Fee Exemption for Japanese Undergraduate Students at Kyushu University

There are two types of exemption systems for undergraduate students (Excluding international students): the government's "Study Support System for Higher Education (New System)" and the University's own exemption system (original system). The new system is an exemption system that is bundled with the Japan Student Services Organization (JASSO) scholarship. For undergraduate students (Excluding international students), in principle, tuition fee exemption under the new system is exempt, so please first check the following website to see if you fall under the new system. Please note that if you apply only for the original system despite being eligible for the new system, your application for the original system will be invalid.

[New Study Support System for Higher Education (New System)] Graduate students are not eligible.

Compliance Roles of Application on Enrollment Fee Exemption (deferment) and Tuition Fee Exemption

When you first use the web application, you will be asked to agree to the following pledge. Please read it carefully before agreeing.

If you fail to comply with these rules, you must pay the enrollment/tuition fee immediately.

Awareness of Applicant

1. I apply for the exemption with the awareness that I must pay the student enrollment/tuition fee. If I have questions about the application, "I" will contact a submission counter, not my "parents."
2. I understand that the enrollment/tuition fee exemption is a financial support system for students with financial difficulty and excellent academic records. I will dedicate myself to studying after receiving the exemption.

Matters need to be well-understood

3. I will prevent misstatements and omissions of income reports by thoroughly reading and understanding the guidebook.
4. I will ensure I complete the application procedures within the designated period, as Kyushu University (KU) cannot accept documents after the deadline.
5. I will keep the copy of the application acceptance slip the submission counter gives me until KU has announced the screening result. Contact the Submission Counter

Contact with the section in charge

6. I will respond to phone calls and e-mails from Kyushu University staff.
I will deal with it immediately if the staff asks me to submit additional required documents or questions.
7. If there is a sudden change in my household situation or student status (leave of absence/study abroad) after applying, or if I cannot get in touch due to overseas travel, I will contact the submission counter promptly.

Screening

8. I will check the screening result on the Student Portal System. If I do not receive "full exemption," I will pay the amount indicated on the Student Portal message by the deadline. If my parent pays my educational expenses, I will inform them of the result, payment deadline, and payment method.
9. I understand that KU may not exempt me from paying enrollment /tuition fees as I wish and consider how to pay the fee if my application is not approved. I also won't compare my screening results with those of other students or my previous results.

Privacy Policy

The information stated in your application form and submitted documents will be used only for the exemption screening and other economic support by Kyushu University, not for other purposes.

* For privately financed international students, the students (or their spouses/parents in Japan) are considered academic expense supporters.

 One year before entering university: from October 1, 2023, to September 30, 2024

 Within six months before starting each semester: from April 1, 2024, to September 30, 2024

2. Support for students affected by the large-scale disaster in Japan

If you or the provider are affected by a disaster, your exemption application may be approved. Please contact your submission counter before applying if you are eligible.

What's a large-scale disaster?

- The provider's home-based house/building was damaged.

- Scholarship Foundation (organization) does not allow you to receive an exemption from the university.
- Those who receive full tuition exemptions as tuition support.
(e.g., JSPS Research Fellowship for Young Scientists, Leading Human Resources Development Fellowship Program fellows and prospective fellows.)

4. Students who exceed the standard study term

- (1) If you are repeating a year or exceeding the standard study term without a specific reason, such as leave of absence, illness, study abroad, graduate thesis of master's (doctoral) course, and others, you are not eligible for tuition fee exemption application.
- (2) If you are repeating a year or exceeding the standard study term, check the 2nd page (back page) of "Form 11-2: Statement of Reasons for Extension Beyond Standard Study Term." If applicable to a "special reason" and wish to apply for tuition fee exemption application, please contact your submission counter (refer to pages 34-35) before Application Step 1 (Web Registration).

Notes:

- In the event of a leave of absence, study abroad, or illness, the reason must occur within the minimum term of study. Additionally, please apply for tuition fee exemption for the first semester following the minimum term of study.
- In the event of a graduate student preparing a thesis, the application must be submitted within one year after the student has exceeded the minimum study period.

III. Income and Income Limits

Income and income limits are provided below for reference when applying for enrollment and tuition fee exemptions. This is a guideline for those who may be eligible but does not guarantee exemption from the enrollment fee and tuition fees. Due to the limited exemption budget, you may not qualify for an exemption even if your income is within the specified limits in the guideline table. Selection will be based not only on income and income amount but also on family structure, the applicant's course of study, and the applicant's commuting category.

- The enrollment fee exemption will only be granted to those who have "special circumstances," such as the death of a family supporter or damage caused by a windstorm, flood, etc., and whose level of financial need is recognized to be extremely high. In addition, if a student enrolling in a graduate program applies solely for financial reasons, the full amount of the tuition exemption will not be granted.
- The tuition fee exemption will be granted in the order of the highest level of financial need: full, half, and one-fourth, so there may be cases in which the desired selection result is not achieved.

Please note that the selection process is conducted every semester, so even if your family's financial situation does not change, the result may not always be the same as the previous election result.

XII. How to read the required documents

1. Application form (application for exemption from admission fee, deferral of collection, application for tuition exemption)

There are many mistakes in the following (1) ~ (4), so please check them.

The reference date for family and household finances is as follows:

The Spring semester is on April 1st, and the Fall semester is on October 1st.

- ① "Family members excluding school attendance" includes whether the dependents of the household supporter (family members listed on the withholding slip or tax return) are listed. Even if your grandparents or siblings who are employed live with your parents, please do not include them unless they are dependents of your parents under the tax law. International students should only fill in the list of dependent family members. Please do not include parents in your home country.

- ④ In the "Enrollment excluding the student" column, are siblings of elementary and junior high schools, high schools, universities, graduate schools, technical colleges, junior colleges, and vocational schools (vocational and senior high schools) listed?

International students should only list their students in Japan.

- ③ Does the income column of the parents, etc., contain the amount of income stated on the withholding slip or final return, and should the amount of less than 1,000 yen be rounded down instead of rounded off?

- ② The income column of "the person" shall not be entered if the income of the person such as a part-time job is less than 1.04 million yen. (* However, independent livelihoods are listed even if it is less than 1.04 million yen)

2. Withholding slip

If you have salary income, attach it to Form 3-1.

* The contents of the application form can be revised by each person during the period of the first application. However, after submitting the application in the second application, please do not modify the application system unless instructed by the person in charge.

- ① The "payment amount" is stated in the "salary income" of the application form.
- ② Among the family members listed in the "Description" column or "Exempt Dependent Relatives" and "Dependent Relatives under the Age of 16", the family members who are still under dependents in the year of application for exemption are listed in the application form.
- ③ If the date of employment is stated in the "Mid-Career/Retirement" column, please also submit the Estimated Annual Income Declaration Form (Form 2-1) or (Form 2-2) Certificate of Expected Annual Income. If the date of retirement is stated in the "Mid-Career/Retirement" column and the household supporter (excluding independent earners and international students) is currently unemployed, please also submit a petition for unemployment (Form 4).

[illegible]

- ③ Among the family members listed in "Matters related to spouses and relatives" in Table 2, family members who are dependent on the household supporter in the year of application for exemption are listed in the application.

In the case of a "Notice of Revision of Pension Amount," the annual amount of A is stated in (Form 3-4) and "Application Form."

In the case of a "Pension Notice," the total amount of the six transfers of B is stated in the Pension Receipt Report (Form 3-4) and the "Application Form."

XIII. Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

Q1. I have a part-time job with an annual income of less than 1,040,000 yen, but I did not receive a "Withholding Slip" last year. What should I submit instead?

A1. Please submit payment slips for the last three months (copy). If you don't have pay slips, submit a copy of your bank account book showing your last three months' salary. Refer to "XI. Sample of required documents" for further details.

Q2. If my exemption application is accepted, does this mean I won't have to pay enrollment or tuition fees?

A2. You won't need to pay the fee if you receive a full exemption screening result. However, if you receive other results, such as "a half exemption" or "a quarter exemption," you'll have to pay the price difference.

Q3. I'm an international student who will enroll at Kyushu University. Can I get an enrollment and tuition fee exemption before I enroll?

A3. Our tuition fee exemption screening requires information about the applicant's life in Japan, including their economic situation. Therefore, it cannot be decided before university enrollment. Please kindly understand this.
