*The members of the Kyushu University President Selection and Oversight Committee are organized in accordance with the Regulations on the President Selection and Oversight Committee of Kyushu University.

- Members selected by the Management Council

Selected from among the members of the Management Council who are not affiliated with the university, these members are highly experienced and accomplished individuals with expertise in various fields such as economics, administration, and academia.
- Members selected by the Education and Research Council

Selected from among current faculty members of the Education and Research Council who are not serving as council members, vice presidents, or vice council members, these individuals possess extensive knowledge and experience in the academic departments and graduate schools responsible for the university's core mission of education and research. To ensure that the selection does not result in bias toward specific campuses or academic fields, and while taking into account the number of members in each department and the number of council members, two members were selected from the humanities and social sciences, two from the sciences and engineering, two from the medical sciences, and one from research institutes or equivalent organizations through a voting process.
